

When Your Church Says to Move Back in With Your Narcissist

- Have an open line of communication between your counselors church leadership.
- Don't make any decision quickly if the church says to move back in with your narcissist.
- Don't go outside of your comfort zone if the church says to move back in with your narcissist.
- If your church is still saying to move back in with your narcissist and you're not ready, consider moving on.

